to deposit Rs 3000/- and praying for the favorable rate of 4% int. thereon.

Mr. Venkataramaniah is willing to make over his fmt of India Pro note for Rs 1000/- and requests that the annual interest thereon viz Rs 40/- be paid in monthly in to the presiding Guru of "Ramakrishna Ashrama" at Bangalore for the ~~Swamis~~ Guru's maintenance. He desires that during his life-time, he may be permitted to make payments himself and that after him, the Muz. Dept. may arrange to do so.

The female donor desires that her deposit of Rs 2000/- may be spent for the following purposes:—

Rs 1000/- — For Poditara, Deepa, Archaka pay of Sri Kodanda Rama Devaru Temple, a private inst. built by her father at Bidarahalli Rs 500/- — For fees, books etc. of the Student depending upon her.

Rs 150/- — For Sankarpane & Pravatige expenses during Rathotsava of Sri Timmaraya Swami Temple, a Muz. inst. at Anekal from Mr. Venkataramanayya and Rs 2000 from Annamalamma, they fall short of the minimum of Rs 3000 req^d by rules for a charitable deposit at the favorable rate of interest. If the amts are taken together in one lump, they from the minimum req^d by the rules, and the amt of 120 Rs payable on the amt annually will be distributed as follows:—

Rs 40 for the maintenance of the Head Varugasi of the Ramakrishna Mutha at Bangalore

Rs 40 - Paditara, Deeparadhane &c of the Rodanda rama temple at Bidarguppe

Rs 20 - for fees, &c of the student depending upon the female donor.

Rs 6 - Sankarpane, Haravatige on the occasion of Thirumanja Swami car festivals

Rs 4 - Kalyanotsava of Gopalakrishna temple at Anekal

Rs 2 - Sankara Jayanti utsava fund at Anekal.

Rs 8 - Medicine charges the poor Scholarship upon students

It will be observed that the Amts are received only yearly & perquisitions scale - As the donors themselves wish to manage the ~~charities~~ pensions in their lifetime, may the endowment of Rs 3000 in their joint names be accepted at the favorable rate of 4 p.c.?

Further as of the 3000 Rs offered, a sum of Rs 1000 is in Govt of India Promotes, and Rs 1700 in Mysore Govt bonds. and the balance of Rs 300 is said to be available in cash which the donor will pay. If the endowment be accepted, the Comptroller will have to accept these papers in lieu of money & arrange to sell them which is rather difficult just now as in the case of the first, (as he (the Comptr) has already reported in that case) in favour of the Dewan.

Submitted. Two orders. The Comptroller has no objection to the 16-9-1915 Charitable Endowment being accepted under the charitable endowment rules. But certain institutions which benefit by the endowment are not Mutts like the Ramakrishna mutt at Bangalore and Kodandarama Swami Temple at Bowringpet, while certain other items like the fees to be payable to a few poor students, and Sankara Jagadguru Nilayam fund & Medicine charges & Scholarships to poor students are not such as can be easily controlled & supervised by this Office. But as the donors themselves will have to arrange for the services for which the endowment is bestowed to provide, may the endowment be accepted? Annual Statements of accounts & report of the conduct of Charities are to be submitted to this Office under the rules by the donors.

I am sorry I did not note upon the points touched upon by the Hr. member. There seems to be nothing in the rules against a deposit being made by more depositors than one acting jointly. I thought that the minimum limit fixed was to prevent a number of small deposits and multiplication of accounts.

The objects of the donors are no doubt diverse and many of them trivial but they seem to come within the scope of the rules as being for a benevolent, charitable or educational purpose and the donors themselves are to administer the income from the funds. The Govt. have to see only that accounts are duly maintained and that the endowment is utilized for the purpose. If at some future date the donors or their representatives should cease to take interest in the administration of the endowment there seems to be nothing to prevent the application often income to further other public objects of a similar nature and trivial in place of the indeterminate objects now mentioned.

In this connection I wish to state that Mr Venkatramanaiya saw me a few days ago and I asked him why he should not make his own arrangements seeing that the beneficiaries of the fund are so many. He represented that the anxiety of himself and his sister-in-law was only to see that there is some amount of permanence to their charitable intentions and that they were fearful for the future that their relations will continue the charities after them, they having neither any children of their own.

A draft declining the deposit will be submitted if the member considers that it is inexpedient to accept it in the circumstances often present. Can
